ABOUT BMTA

Formed in 1990 the British Measurement and Testing Association is a Member owned Trade Association supporting Measurement, Testing, Analysis and Calibration Services organisations and their supply chain. Membership of the BMTA is open to all organisations serving these industries.

BMTA provides members with a wide range of products and services designed to support their competitiveness, by ensuring they remain up to date on industry developments, by increasing their knowledge and improving their professional networks. By helping Member Organisations to maximise their potential we are able to raise awareness of the sector overall.

We influence policy, standards and regulation for the benefit of our industry through active engagement with UK, European and International Governmental and Non-Governmental organisations, such as UKAS, EUROLAB and BSI.

We raise the profile of Measurement, Testing, Analysis and Calibration Services and support Member Companies' own development objectives by promoting our industry through exhibitions, events, publications and media campaigns.

With a membership spanning 500 laboratories and test houses across the UK, BMTA aim to provide organisations with the support and resource needed to develop their business.

Members play a critical role in setting the agenda for the BMTA. We therefore welcome new members who are able to help ensure our agenda reflects the needs of the entire industry.
